Piergiorgio Cazzaniga

With an elegant and comfortable aesthetic, Nilo Modular Sofa is inspired by oriental culture and stands out for its iroko wood structure.

Adopting a modular approach, it combines upholstered cushions with a wooden structure to create a unique proposal that highlights the natural and elegant beauty of the sofa. The iconic design of the wooden arms and the side table generate a visual game of transparencies, characterizing the collection and evidencing the detailed elaboration of the wood.

In summary, the Nilo sofa is distinguished by its modular design and the use of iroko wood in its structure, giving it an elegant appearance and functionality ideal for outdoors. The combination of materials, the meticulous woodworking and the arrangement of independent cushions make this sofa an attractive and versatile option for creating cozy outdoor spaces.

Due to its characteristics, the Nilo sofa is presented as a functional and versatile solution for outdoor spaces, whether public or private, without giving up its elegant aesthetics, which also makes it suitable for indoor use.

Nilo is a modular sofa system that offers great versatility through different versions of straight terminal modules with wooden arm, intermediate, chaise longue, backless or corner seat and table seat. Its construction is based on a solid base of 100% FSC® iroko wood and a backrest structure of treated outdoor steel. The upholstered cushions stand out, generous and comfortable, visually connected to enhance the architectural effect. The distinctive arm, made up of wooden slats, adds character and functionality, allowing efficient water drainage. The detail of its sewing, with an elaborate box-shaped design and made of white thread, becomes an identifying sign of this collection.
